

1. Go to www.tweetdeck.com

2. Log in with your twitter log in and password. The tweetdeck page will look different than your typical twitter account does. It is divided into different columns. You can customize these columns. For the purposes of tonight, add a column using the plus

Stay in line, friends. Your vote is imperative.

Nancy Pelosi @TeamPelosi
Today, to all across the country and #CA12, make a plan to...

- Vote for protecting people with pre-existing conditions and our health care.
- Vote to save lives by reducing the gross epidemic of gun violence.
- Vote to stop discrimination against the LGBTQ community.

3. It will then ask what type of column you want to add, choose 'search'

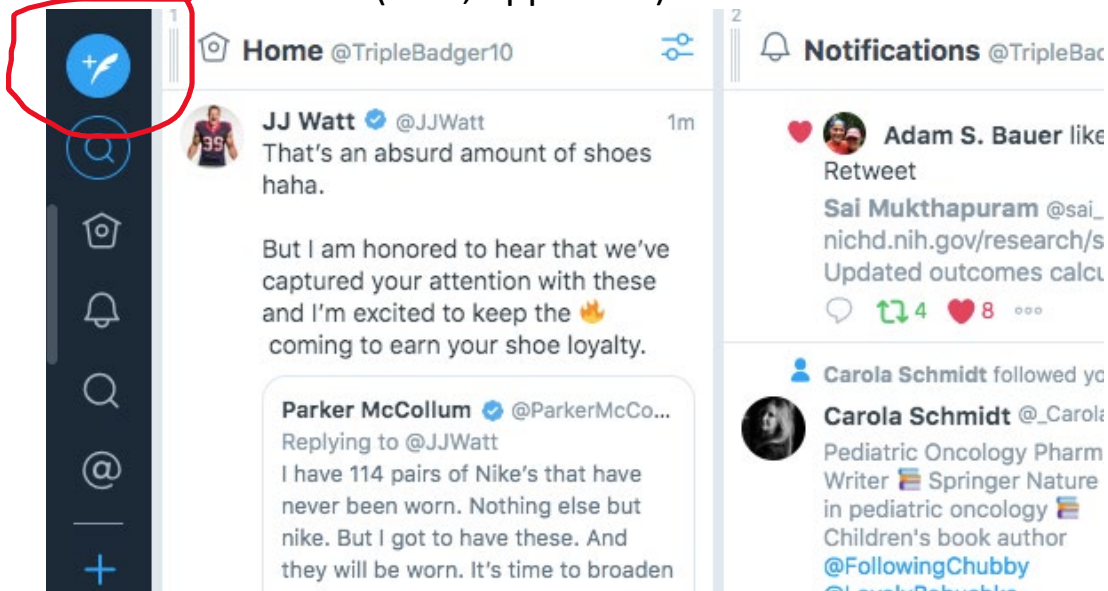

4. In the new column, type #kidneo

5. Now in this column, every tweet with #kidneo will show up and you don't have to hit another button to observe the journal club, just watch the tweets pop up on that column!

6. If you want to participate (take the leap, do it!) and make a tweet, hit the 'tweet' button (blue, upper left).

7. Write your tweet in the box and add #kidneo at the end, then hit tweet!
